

Supporting Your Fundraisers

Do's:

- Check in with your fundraisers regularly – either on a group chat or personally, it's good to know how they're doing and if they need any help
- Organise regular team socials and fundraising events so your team gets to know each other and has the opportunity to fundraise together – this year is a journey from now to the mountain so you want to share those experiences with everyone
- Make sure that your team fundraising events and socials are inclusive of everyone in the team
- Acknowledge achievement over the course of the year – saying well done for good fundraising events will keep fundraisers positive and on track
- If in doubt, ask your Fundraising Support Officers!

Don'ts:

- Don't be worried if people take time to get back to you /don't get back to you – students at university have busy schedules and often they might forget
- Don't take it upon yourself to fundraise FOR your team – while we want you to support your team as best as possible and help them with fundraising as much as you can, it is still everyone's individual responsibility to fundraise their target
- Don't feel as though all your fundraising events have to be group events – you will still have your own target to reach and its perfectly okay to do individual fundraising as a team leader
- Don't worry if every team member doesn't attend every social /fundraising event – it is completely normal that not everyone will be able to attend everything, but try to hold events /socials on varying days so that as many team members can attend as possible